NEW DECOMPRESSION TABLE RELIEVES PAIN

Darren Strong from Strong Chiropractic, announces a new, sophisticated computerized decompression table that allows the spine to be gently stretched and relaxed for spinal decompression therapy.

The pattern of alternating pulling and relaxing creates vacuum-like pressure which allows disc material that was herniated or protruded to be pulled back in the disc over time.

Patients will notice a reduction of their pain during these treatment sessions. Stop in today and ask about the new table and how you can benefit.

MUSIC NOTES
 BY PAUL
 POWER
AVICCI - Last Friday the world learned that Avicci had died in Oman, and when I wrote this no further details as to the cause of death were available, but police did say no foul play was suspected. I am a huge fan of Avicci's work, as he and fellow DJ/producers David Guetta and Calvin Harris separately brought electronic dance music to a whole new level never heard before.

Avicci was actually Tom Bergling, a 28-year-old Swede, and the first time I heard a song by him was in 2013 and I honestly thought 'what the hell was that?' The song was "Wake Me Up", and I couldn't peg it down-was it dance music? Country? Country-dance music? American soul singer Aloe Blaac did the beautifully moving lead vocals on the song, and in the history of EDM there has never been a song like this one, an incredible heartfelt stomper that's as much barn dance as it is Ibiza. The song actually beat out "Blurred Lines" as the fastest selling single that year in the U.K., and the video is amazing too.

To add to that Avicci took things totally over the top as bluegrass vocalist Dan Tyminski (Allison Krauss and Union Station band) brought heart and soul to "Hey Brother", another song that is so original in its sound that it defies categorization-other than the fact that it's also amazing.

Avicci also released "Heart Upon My Sleeve", featuring cellos that sounded a lot like Corey Hart's "Sunglasses At Night". It would be an amazing theme song for a James Bond movie. The song "Shame On Me" was another one that jetted along at a thousand miles per hour, with a vibe that's a cross between Daft Punk and The Sweet's "Ballroom Blitz", featuring Sterling Fox on vocals.

In 2012 alone Avicci made over 20 million dollars as a DJ, won an American Music Award, a Billboard Music Award, and many more. Since his mid-teens Avicci had been performing live all around the world, and hard partying atmospheres are a big part of that scene. Admittedly, he did have major issues with excessive drinking-eventually developed acute pancreatitis, and had his gall bladder and appendix removed. He stopped touring in 2016 to concentrate on producing. He was even immortalized in Mike Posner's song "I took a pill in Ibiza" ("to show Avicci I was cool"). Condolences have been pouring online from many musicians, producers and performers-as well as Swedish royalty. Dance music, pop music and the world lost a true visionary last Friday.

- Line 303: an infirm dependent spouse or common-law partner.
- Line 305: an infirm dependant for whom the individual claims an eligible dependant credit.
- Line 367: an infirm child who is under 18 years of age at the end of the tax year.

Each type of claim has a different tax credit value associated with it. Features of the Canada Caregiver Credit which differ from previous separate caregiver credits:

- it is reduced dollar-for dollar by the dependant's net income over $16,163 in 2017
- the dependant is not required to live with the caregiver in order for the caregiver to claim the new credit
- it is not available for non-infirm seniors who reside with their adult children or grandchildren.

If you believe your tax situation could involve the claim for the Canada Caregiver Credit, you should speak with your professional tax preparer.
