NEW DECOMPRESSION TABLE RELIEVES PAIN

Darren Strong from Strong Chiropractic, announces a new, sophisticated computerized decompression table that allows the spine to be gently stretched and relaxed for spinal decompression therapy.

The pattern of alternating pulling and relaxing creates vacuum-like pressure which allows disc material that was herniated or protruded to be pulled back in the disc over time.

Patients will notice a reduction of their pain during these treatment sessions. Stop in today and ask about the new table and how you can benefit.

Allister MacGillivray's "Song for the Mira" to be inducted into the Hall of Fame

The Canadian Songwriters Hall of Fame is pleased to announce a new partnership with the East Coast Music Association, beginning at this year's East Coast Music Awards: Festival & Conference in Halifax.

The induction award will be presented to MacGillivray during the East Coast Music & Industry Awards on Sunday, May 6, at 7:00 p.m in the Nova Scotia Ballroom of the Halifax Marriott Harbourfront Hotel. It will also be performed by legendary Cape Breton artist Heather Rankin.

Allister MacGillivray is a Cape Breton Islander (born in Glace Bay), and is a graduate of both Xavier College and St. F.X. University. A songwriter, guitarist, folklorist, author, and record producer, he has served as music director for Celtic television programs out of St. John's and Halifax. As an accompanist, he has toured internationally with noted traditional musicians such as Tommy Makem & Liam Clancy, John Allan Cameron, and Ryan's Fancy, and also worked for a short time with Canadian songwriter Gene MacLellan.

This is a well deserved honour for MacGillivray and his song is the unofficial anthem of Cape Breton and sung proudly by young and old alike. Allister has been a great friend to K-LEE RADIO providing music, history and expertise to our music repertoire.

MUSIC NOTES
 BY PAUL
 POWER
DWIGHT YOAKAM – “Under the Covers” - The other day I was scanning through my SiriusXM radio channels and as I passed through them I stopped on channel 60, “Outlaw Country”. Now normally I would skip by this channel because of the “C” word (country) as I usually claim to not like country music-but to be honest I don’t like 99% of the ‘new country’, which is basically pop music with cowboy hats, but the old school country and western music, and outlaw country is really good.

Dwight Yoakam

The voice on SiriusXM was that of Dwight Yoakam, and the song was his cover of the Glen Campbell/Jimmy Webb classic “Wichita Lineman”. The original version has a lonely, haunting quality to it whereas Dwight’s is more up-tempo-but his voice is what totally sells the song, and the number was on Dwight’s “Under the Covers” album; hard to believe that it was released 21 years ago, because the album sounds totally current today. It was Dwight’s first album of all covers, and featured an amazing duet with Sheryl Crow on Sonny & Cher’s “Baby Don’t Go”, a blues-laced approach to “Good Time Charlie’s Got The Blues” by Danny O’Keefe, which was also covered by Willie Nelson, Elvis Presley, Waylon Jennings, Charlie Rich, Conway Twitty and many more-it’s a country standard for sure. There’s also a great version of the 1960 hit song “North to Alaska” by Johnny Horton, a hot rocking take on The Beatles “Things We Said Today” and Dwight even does an amazing bluegrass cover of The Clash’s “Train in Vain”.

A lot of musicians do cover songs; the key to a good one is to add their own flair to the song, or do a new and fresh delivery on the track-Dwight did that with every song on this album, none moreso than “Here Comes The Night” by Van Morrison’s band Them. Canada’s own Streetheart had a hit with the song in 1979. Honourable mention also goes out to “The Last Time” (Rolling Stones) as Dwight hits the ball out of the park for a musical home run.

Dwight has sold over 25 million albums, is a movie actor of some renown (Sling Blade, Panic Room, Wedding Crashers, etc.) and his pioneering style of “Bakersfield” country music was so good that Johnny Cash claimed Dwight as his favourite country singer-so when The Man In Black endorses you, you know you’re something unique-and to that end, Time magazine even called Dwight a “Renaissance Man”. Just by chance a satellite radio station opened a door for me to a phenomenal album.

TAX TIPS 2017

Last Minute Income Tax Deadlines

The Personal Tax Return deadline has passed, but it's not too late to file! Personal Tax Returns for 2017 should have been filed by Monday, April 30, 2018. Self-employed must file by Friday, June 15, 2018, but any tax owing must be paid by April 30th to avoid interest charges.

If you are E-filing online, Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) sometimes allows a grace period for taxpayers who may experience delays in submitting their return online. Any amount owing is still expected to be paid by April 30th (normally) to avoid any penalties.

There were transmission errors occurring on April 30th due to the large volume of returns that were being filed on the last day, and many returns had to be submitted 2-3 times before they were transmitted.

Even if you have not filed your 2017 return yet, you still can! Most registered Efilers still transmit tax returns after the deadline, and some throughout the entire year.

Be aware though, that some charge a premium if you are filing late, so be aware of the cost of filing before you file.

The CRA will accept personal tax filing up to 10 years backwards, so if you have not had your personal taxes filed in more than one of the preceding years, you can still have that done and get caught up.

Speak to a professional tax preparer about your options and whether filing under a penalty relief program might be an option for you.
