NORTHSIDE COMMUNITY NEWS

AROUND THE TOWN - First off, let me tell you about the Irish Spring Concert I attended with my wife and sisters-in-law. The Irish songs were terrific along with a couple of fiddle solos by Kimberely Fraser and Boyd MacNeil. Another highlight was Jean MacNeil, Barra MacNeil matriarch, reading one of her poems and singing one of her compositions which brought a standing ovation. Kevin Evans and Bob Quinn paid tribute to the Cape Breton Highlanders and Kevin sang an emotional version of "Danny Boy" which garnered him a standing ovation for his efforts. This was the second in a series of musical concerts and don't miss the next one.....I've included a picture this week of some smelt fishers at Irish Vale and still able to fish through the ice for a last feed of smelts.... There's a new business starting up in North Sydney that will please many of us. It's called Thyme Savour Takeaway Food Shoppe and it will be preparing cooked and pre-packaged meals ready to go. That will be a big help to many of us who are constantly on the go and in need of a little help with meal-time menus. There will be more information in upcoming editions.....The Chronicle Herald is expanding on another front in Cape Breton. On May 1, it will launch the Cape Breton Star, a free community weekly with an initial circulation of 18,000.....As of Wednesday, that makes 15 days that Cape Breton schools have been closed due to weather conditions. It will lengthen the Summer vacation time for students and run into late June before they are free for the Summer.....ROAD CLEANUP - For the 8th year in a row volunteers have been "adopting" a kilometer of road in the Kempt Head Road area and keep it cleaned up. This is a very worthwhile project and shows great community spirit. If you would like to become involved call Archie MacDonald to volunteer, 674-2930 The recent snowfall brought out the Good Samaritan in all of us. I helped a man get gas as he ran out, 3 young boys pushed me out of the Parking Lot at McDonald's when I got stuck and my neighbour kindly plowed my driveway when I went to get some breakfast after our power was out. See you next week.

"It's All About The Music"

BY PAUL POWER

BTO - "Not Fragile" Universal - For this review I'm going back 40 years-not physically but definitely 'literally' to take a listen to the re-release of an album that represents classic Canadian hard rock 100%. Bachman-Turner Overdrive's "Not fragile" album was released in 1974; it was their 3rd. studio album and would eventually become their biggest selling record-even grabbing the number 1 spot on American album charts. In Randy Bachman's words "Not Fragile made BTO recognized around the world. That was a milestone album and our crowning achievement". In conjunction with the band's induction into the Canadian Music Hall of Fame on March 30th Universal music released the "Not Fragile-40th Anniversary Edition" on a 2-CD set, as well as digitally and on 180 gram vinyl. To make things even sweeter the second album consists of 8 live recordings.

As I listened to the album what hit me first was just how heavy BTO actually were in the day; "Not Fragile" has a sludgy groove similar to that of early Black Sabbath, and nothing against Randy Bachman (after all he's like a Canadian rock and roll teddy bear, a wicked guitarist, songwriter and one hell of a radio show host) but I have always liked Fred (C.F.) Turner's vocals more-Fred had a rougher, heavy rock and roll growl, further borne out here by "Roll On Down The Highway", "Blue Moanin" and "Sledgehammer" (with Randy on background vocals).

Randy Bachman had mentioned before that this record grabbed both the album-oriented rock audience as well as the singles audience-with "You Ain't Seen Nothing Yet" becoming the band's biggest hit single, the worldwide hit was written and sung by Randy. Not bad for a song that wasn't originally intended for the album. Randy also handles lead vocals on "Rock Is My Life And This Is My Song", "Givin' It All Away" and "Second Hand".

As mentioned above, the second album features 8 live recordings from 1973 to 1986, and the band sounds even heavier live. The "RB Rock Prelude", for instance, is a monster guitar solo reminiscent of Jimi Hendrix and, at times, a bit like early Rush. The rest is mostly live versions of the "Not Fragile" album tracks.

Bachman-Turner Overdrive is now officially a Canadian rock and roll music icon-this re-release reminds us why.

2014 TAX TIPS FROM H & R BLOCK

Here are some Tax Tips that will save you money on your 2013 Income Tax Return.

- Working income tax benefit (WITB) – Working individuals and families with low income may be able to claim this refundable tax credit. The WITB includes a supplement for individuals who qualify for the disability amount. Eligible individuals and families can also apply for advance payments. Depending on your province or territory of residence, you may be eligible for a credit of up to $1,797.
- Children’s fitness tax credit – Did your children play soccer, take golf lessons, or participate in some other program of physical activity in 2013? If so, you may be able to claim up to $500, per child, of the cost of these programs. You can claim an additional $500 for each eligible child who qualifies for the disability amount and for whom you have paid at least $100 in registration or membership fees for an eligible program.
- Children’s arts tax credit – Did your children participate in a program of artistic, cultural, recreational, or developmental activity such as tutoring in 2013? If so, you may be able to claim up to $500 of the fees paid, per child, on these programs. You can claim an additional $500 for each eligible child who qualifies for the disability amount and for whom you have paid at least $100 in registration or membership fees for an eligible program.
- Child care expenses – Did your children attend daycare or a child care program such as a summer day camp in 2013? You or your spouse or common-law partner may be able to claim what you spent on eligible child care in 2013.
- Family caregiver amount – If you have a dependant with an impairment in physical or mental functions, you may be able to claim up to an additional $2,040 in calculating certain non-refundable tax credits.
- Goods and services tax/harmonized sales tax (GST/HST) credit – The GST/HST credit is a tax-free quarterly payment that helps individuals and families with low and modest incomes offset all or part of the GST or HST that they pay. You can apply for this credit when filing your income tax and benefit return.
- Public transit amount – Did you or your eligible dependant use public transit in 2013? You may be able to claim the cost of certain public transit passes or electronic payment cards for this 15% non-refundable tax credit.

Trained, trusted and totally into your taxes.
